President-Elect Says Farewells At Columbia U.

By MARVIN L. ARROWSMITH
NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower discusses politics with a delegation from the Republican National Committee today and he also set aside time for three farewell talks to Columbia university students, faculty and alumni.

The general arranged to confer with five members of the national committee, which will meet in Washington tomorrow to select a new chairman.

New Chairman Picked

The subcommittee meeting with Eisenhower almost certainly will take word to that meeting that his choice for chairman is Wesley Roberts, who served as the committee's director of organization during the campaign.

That will make selection of Roberts a formality. The former chairman of the Kansas State Republican Committee is in line to succeed Arthur E. Summerfield, who is resigning as head of the national GOP committee to serve as postmaster general in Eisenhower's Cabinet.

On the subcommittee meeting with the President-elect are these national committee members: Former U. S. Sen. Harry Darby of Kansas; G. Mason Owlett of Pennsylvania; C. C. Spades of Florida; Mrs. Wesley Dixon of Illinois; and Mrs. Neal Tourtellotte of Washington State.

Leaving Sunday

Eisenhower will leave New York by special train Sunday afternoon for Washington and arrive there that evening for Tuesday's inauguration ceremonies. The general and Mrs. Eisenhower will occupy the presidential suite at the Statler Hotel. They will be accompanied from Manhattan by other members of the family, some officials

Flushing Police Chief Is Burglar

FLINT (AP)—Nearby Flushing was without its police chief today. He was in the Genesee county jail here awaiting examination on a breaking and entering charge.

Chief Loren Gillespie, 32, was held in a burglary which he reported himself to Sheriff Thomas W. Wolcott.

Gillespie demanded examination upon arraignment before Municipal Judge Raymond C. French yesterday. It was set for Jan. 23. Bond was fixed at $5,000, but Gillespie couldn't raise it.

Sheriff Wolcott said Gillespie told him he broke into a grocery in Flushing and took $3 worth of stamps, some change from a cash register and cigarettes Wednesday night.

Wolcott said that when Gillespie called to report the burglary, the sheriff's office already was investigating a call from Mrs. Alma Jones, of Flushing, who said she'd seen a man enter the Smith Food Market opposite her home.

Mrs. Jones, what is more, reported the man walked with a limp and apparently was driving a Flushing police car. Gillespie limps as the result of a traffic accident a few years ago.

Confronted with Mrs. Jones' story, Wolcott said Gillespie confessed.

Siamese Twin Boys Born At Memphis, Tenn., To Young Farm Couple

MEMPHIS (AP)—Siamese twin boys, less than a day old, were reported in good condition today after one of them underwent an emergency operation.

The surgery was not to separate the twins but to close a ruptured tissue in the lower part of the abdomen.

Dr. R. G. Hand, one of the attending physicians, said he believed the twins would have a good chance to live if they survived the operation.

The doctor said they were not considering separation surgery. The twins are joined from the chest down to the abdomen, and probably have common internal organs, Hand said.

The boys were delivered by caesarian section yesterday.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Sims, a farm couple with two other children.

Mrs. Sims, 22, was reported in satisfactory condition.

Big Quota Set

NEW YORK (AP)—The American Red Cross has set a 93 million dollar quota for its March fund drive—eight million above the 1952 goal and the biggest yet except in wartime.

Campaign Chairman Leroy A. Lincoln announced the quota to 15 regional vice chairmen here yesterday.

Crushed Under Truck

KENNVILLE (AP)—Leo Peck, 67, of Route 3, Fennville, was crushed to death Thursday under the wheels of a semi-trailer truck unloading at the Michigan Fruit Canners Plant, Charles E. Shriver, 31, of Benton Harbor, the driver of the truck, said he failed to see Peck as he backed into the loading dock.

Tax Experts Discuss State Financial Mess With Gov. Williams

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING (AP)—Republicans and Democrats came out smiling but non-committal today from an unprecedented closed meeting between Governor Williams and legislative leaders on the state's finance problem.

GOP legislative leaders were invited to the meeting by the governor in a plea for a "let-by-gones-be-by-gones" approach to the problem of pulling the state out of impending bankruptcy.

Senator George N. Higgins (R-Ferndale), chairman of the senate taxation committee and a special legislative tax study committee, and a major foe of Williams' corporation profits tax plan, had to leave the two hour and a quarter meeting before it ended. But he came out grinning and said to newsmen "I think we can work together."

Higgins said "the governor said frankly what he thought we should do but he seems willing to go along with some of our ideas."

Blamed For Bankruptcy

Both chambers recessed until 4 p.m. Wednesday after hearing the governor toss aside the normal gubernatorial requests for varied legislation and center his entire message yesterday on an urgent plea for immediate new taxes.

No one disputed Williams' statement that the state will be about $90,000,000 in the red by June 30 on its present tax base.

But there was plenty of dispute about who was to blame and what should be done — mostly in the senate.

In what was apparently a Republican policy reply to the governor, the chamber's new GOP

Ford Plant Idle As 2000 Strike

MONROE (AP)—Two thousand Ford workers were idle today in a strike which has halted production at the company's parts and equipment plant here.

Production workers of the CIO United Auto Workers union walked out last night.

Members of Local 723 UAW-CIO said a series of unsettled grievances connected with a dispute over health and welfare condition led to the strike.

Plant management made no statement. Questions were referred to superiors at Ford headquarters in Dearborn.

Strikers set up a picket line at an intersection in the solitary road leading to the plant. The plant is at the eastern end of the city.

City police were present at the picket line. There was no disorder.

Office workers were permitted to enter the plant.

Quick Approval Of Eisenhower Cabinet Assured

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—President-elect Eisenhower's Cabinet choices today seemed assured of Senate approval next week despite a rough start by some of them in advance appearances before the lawmakers.

The AFL's Martin Durkin gets his baptism of congressional questioning today when the Senate Labor Committee looks into his qualifications to be secretary of labor.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), who once called the choice of Durkin "incredible," has said he won't oppose the nominee, but some other Republicans indicated they want to know how Durkin stands on proposed repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Wilson Retains Stock

Back before the armed services committee in a closed hearing four men chosen for high defense jobs: Charles M. Kyes, deputy secretary of defense; Robert T. Stevens, Army secretary; Harold E. Talbott, Air Force secretary, and Robert B. Anderson, Navy secretary.

The armed services group still was pondering Charles E. Wilson's disclosure that as secretary of defense he plans to hold on to 2½ million dollars worth of stock in General Motors, largest military contract recipient.

Wilson, who faced reported sharp questioning at a closed session of the group yesterday, was said by committee members to have testified he will get a $40,000 a year pension from General Motors and $635,000 in bonus payments, plus 1,800 additional shares of stock.

Committee reaction to Wilson's testimony was not all favorable but Chairman Saltonstall (R-Mass.) predicted the group would approve

Farmers Of America In Terrible Shape, Moscow Radio Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—American farmers, according to the Moscow radio, are in a terrible plight.

A broadcast by one "Comrade Beglov," recorded today by U. S. government monitors, said in part:

"Over four-fifths of American farm families are deprived of most essentials and are in constant need."

"American land workers are in particularly dire straits." Ninety-four per cent of them earn considerably less than the required living minimum. These people, deprived of all rights, work from dawn to dawn and receive a miserable pittance....

"They live either in tents or dugouts. Thousands of agricultural workers, deprived of a roof, sleep in ditches."

Beglov said working farmers are "slaves of the monopolies" which rob them by "imposing low prices and which sell milk, milk products and grain at four to six times the cost."

Fugitives Kill 3

MONTEILMAR, France (AP)—Police said last night that two young fugitives from a psychiatric asylum have admitted the killing Wednesday of a farmer and his wife and daughter.

The two youths, arrested yesterday, said they stabbed Arsene Cru, 68, and his wife Louise, 62, with a sickle and strangled their 31-year-old daughter Odette at their farm near here, according to the police.

Jury Ponders Fate Of 13 Second-Rank U. S. A. Communists

NEW YORK (AP)—The jury pondering the fate of 13 second-string U. S. Communist party leaders charged with conspiracy had key documents sent in for further study today after it failed to agree in 7½ hours.

Before they were sent to a hotel for the night, the jurors asked that several documents used as evidence be ready for their examination when they convened.

Pace Deliberate

The deliberate pace of the jurors was in keeping with the tone of the whole conspiracy trial. They got the case yesterday after 8½ months of testimony and arguments.

Turning the case over to the jury, Federal Judge Edward J. Dimock warned in a two-hour charge:

"Ideas are not crimes."

He said Communist party membership was not an issue, and added that the 13 were not charged with actually advocating overthrow of the U. S. government by force.

What the prosecution must have proved, the judge went on, was that they "conspired with each other and with others" to teach and advocate violent overthrow of the government—as charged. Conviction carries a possible maximum penalty of five years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Four Disappear

The defendants—10 men and three women—took over the reins of the Communist party after the conviction of 11 top Reds in 1949 on the same conspiracy charges. They held positions ranging from national committee posts to local chairmanships in the party.

The 13 were indicted June 20, 1951, under the 13-year-old Smith Act.

Eight other top Communists also were indicted.

Four of them fled and still are fugitives. They are James E. Jackson, Sidney Stein, Fred Fine and William Marrow.

Israel Amter, 70, and Mrs. Marion Maxwell Abt Bachrach, 53, are dead.

Three Shot Dead In Pontiac Home

PONTIAC (AP)—While authorities are convinced it was a case of double murder and suicide, an autopsy will be performed here today in an attempt to fix exact causes for the deaths of a mother and two children found shot in their Southfield Township home yesterday.

Mrs. Gladys Marie Church, 28, and her two sons, Norman, 2, and Martin, only 3½, were the victims of the tragedy. The children had been shot through the heart with a .22 calibre rifle, the mother through the head.

State Police said there was no apparent motive for the tragedy.

The bodies were found by the husband and father, Norman F. Church, 28, a carpenter, when he returned from work to his one-story frame house from work.

Communists Arrest German Minister For High Treason

BERLIN (AP)—East Germany's Communist government today revealed the arrest of its foreign minister, George Dertinger, on charges of high treason.

The arrest was disclosed today in the controlled East Berlin press. A member of the Soviet-zone Christian Democratic bloc which collaborates with the ruling Reds, Dertinger long has been considered on shaky ground.

Purge Being Felt

He is the most prominent of the East zone clique to fall into disgrace since the German Communists started to feel rumbles of the purge that has hit Czechoslovakia, Poland and now even the Soviet Union itself.

The announcement of Dertinger's arrest was published in the Red Army newspaper Ategliche Rundschau, the Communist Neues Deutschland and Dertinger's own party paper, Neue Zeit.

The terse announcement said he was arrested yesterday.

"The arrest is based on his enemy activity against the German democratic republic which he carried out in behalf of an imperialist espionage ring," the announcement added.

Two Dead, Two Injured As Auto Hits Trailer Near Mt. Pleasant

MT. PLEASANT (AP)—Two Mt. Pleasant youths were killed and two injured seriously late yesterday as their car sideswiped a trailer on US-27 and crashed into a tree.

Victims were Neil Campbell and Al Kullman, both 19.

Injured were Mike Gibson, Jr., 22, and Bob Honeywell, 21. They are in Central Michigan Community hospital here.

Police said Campbell apparently lost control of the car when he attempted to pass another automobile pulling a trailer.

With a third car approaching, officers said, Campbell apparently cut in and sideswiped the trailer, the impact throwing his car over onto the side of the road against a tree. Occupants of the trailer were not hurt.

Roosevelt Children Recover From Polio

NEW YORK (AP)—Infantile paralysis again has struck the family of the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, who himself was a polio sufferer.

It was disclosed yesterday that two of his grandchildren—Haven, 12, and Nina, 10, children of John A. Roosevelt—were stricken with mild cases last summer. They now have recovered.

Another of the late President's grandchildren, Curtis Roosevelt, 22, suffered a light polio attack in 1949.

Appoint Twelve To City Boards

Escanaba City Council last night appointed 12 persons to serve without compensation on five city boards and commissions. The appointments were announced by Mayor Robert E. LeMire and were unanimously confirmed by the Council.

Named members were the following:

In other business before Council bids were opened for the purchase of cast iron water pipe and poles for electric power lines.

The U. S. Pipe and Foundry Company, Chicago, or the James B. Clow Company, Chicago, appeared to be low bidders on the cast iron pipe which the city will purchase for water main extensions. Council adopted a motion to accept the low bid, as revealed following analysis by City Manager A. V. Aronson.

Sawyer Stoll Company, Escanaba, appeared to be low bidder on a carload of power line poles, one of six bids received, the bids will be analyzed and a report made to the Council for action at its next meeting.

'HDA' Signs Mark Approved Resorts

MARQUETTE—An 'HDA' sign at an Upper Peninsula resort next summer will assure tourists that maximum precautions have been taken for their health and safety.

It will be the Michigan health department's hallmark of a safe water supply, adequate sewage disposal facilities, proper ventilation and protection against common hazards.

The services of county and city health departments, cooperating with the Michigan Health Department, have been made available in approving resorts for display of the green and gold sign.

Resort owners are not required by law to meet HDA standards, but can earn the right to display the sign by providing accommodations and facilities which assure protection for their guests.

The 'HDA' (Health Department Approved) sign will mean not only that a resort meets high standards of water supply, sewage and garbage disposal, building construction, ventilation, lighting and heating, but also that the sources, storage, preparation and handling of food are sanitary, and pasteurized milk and milk products are used.

If a resort has a bathing beach, it must be free from dangerous pollution or undue safety hazards; and such noxious plants as poison ivy or poison oak must be controlled before it can be approved.

The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau is cooperating with state and local health departments in the program to raise health and safety standards through use of the 'HDA' signs.

The voters of Escanaba will on April 6, 1953, have placed before them by ballot the question of making a general revision of the Escanaba city charter, following adoption last night of the necessary resolution by the Escanaba City Council.

Meeting Planned For Prospective College Students

A meeting of Delta County high school students planning to attend college and University of Michigan students home for mid-semester vacations is being arranged by the Delta County University of Michigan club and a committee of Delta students attending the U-M.

Invitations now are being mailed to seniors in Delta County schools. The meeting will be held Feb. 2, in the evening at Escanaba Senior High School Library.

A panel of five or six U-M students from Delta County will answer questions on courses, dormitories, fraternities and sororities and other aspects of college life. Films of the University of Michigan will be shown and entertainment is planned. Refreshments will be served.

Other U-M students on the planning committee are Gretchen Hult of Gladstone, a University of Michigan junior, and David Gassman and Ted Rouman of Escanaba, freshmen in the university.

The meeting will be open to any interested student.

Two Corporations Organized Here To Publish Newspaper

Two Delta County corporations have been organized under Michigan statutes to publish a newspaper in Delta County, the records of the Delta county clerk reveal.

The Escanaba Daily Press, Inc., is a corporation of employees of the Escanaba Press. Directors of the corporation are Ken L. Gunderman, Clint Dunathan, Guy Traverser, Lowell Sundstrom, C. E. Johnson and Clifford Beaudin. This corporation has been organized as a legal entity to represent the employees in negotiations for the purchase of the Escanaba Daily Press.

The Peninsula-Delta Publishing Co. also has articles of incorporation on file at the courthouse. Directors of the corporation are Prentiss M. Brown Jr., James Brown, both of St. Ignace; and Gerald Cleary, Escanaba.

The Escanaba Daily Press Company, present publishers of the Escanaba Daily Press, is not a corporation. The corporation was dissolved about 10 years ago after the late John P. Norton acquired all of the stock in the corporation. The property was bequeathed to the Escanaba Board of Education to establish a scholarship fund in memory of Mr. Norton's wife, Anna C. Norton. The newspaper is now owned by the John P. Norton estate and will be sold.

ously and the city attorney was directed to draft the resolution.

Elect Commission
The proposal for a general revision of the charter will be submitted to the electors of Escanaba on a "Yes" and "No" vote ballot.

At the same time the voters will be asked to elect nine persons, previously nominated, who will serve as a charter commission to study the charter and make the revisions.

The charter commission members must be residents of the city for at least three years. They may not be officers or employees of the city.

The deadline for filing nominating petitions for charter commission member candidates with the city clerk is 5 p. m., March 17.

Serve Without Pay
City Clerk George Harvey advised the Council that the work of revising the charter must be completed within 90 days after the April 6 election and submitted to the governor for approval.

In discussion the Council indicated it believes there are public spirited persons in Escanaba who will serve on a charter revision commission without pay. The resolution adopted provides that the commissioners shall serve without compensation but they will be entitled to incur necessary expenses in connection with the work of the commission.

First meeting of the charter commission, if the voters approve and the commission is formed, will be held April 14.

Council Inspects New Water Plant

After approving some additional work to complete the city's new water treatment plant at Sand Point, the Escanaba City Council last night inspected the plant in company with representatives of the contractor, the Pearson Construction Company, Chicago.

William Cadigan, project engineer for the contractor, told the Council that a chemical injector costing about $200 and a roof over an unroofed section, costing about $800, should be authorized.

With these additions the cost of the plant is still about $6,000 below the funds available for the project, Cadigan pointed out.

In inviting the Council to make a general inspection of the plant, Cadigan said the contractor is prepared to turn the $850,000 plant over to the city next week.

The Council also received a communication from Charles Johnston of the Johnston Print Shop in which he complained to the Council concerning the handling of quotations on city printing jobs. Johnston said he had been low bidder on three city printing jobs but had not been awarded any of the three printing contracts. The letter was referred to Comptroller Alfred Lawrence for investigation and reply.

Johnston said there "may be discrimination being shown" and believes the Council should be informed. City Manager A. V. Aronson said he believed "there is no intention to leave anyone out" in awarding city printing.

City Underwrites Investigation Cost

After brief discussion in which the necessity for subpoenaing witnesses was questioned, the Escanaba City Council last night approved a request to underwrite necessary expenses in connection with the Civil Service Commission's investigation of the Police Department.

The action was taken at the request of Carl Benzinger, Civil Service Commission chairman, who wrote the Council:

"In order to conduct our investigation of the Police Department, it will be necessary to purchase several spools of recording tape, hire a stenographer, and, if necessary, to subpoena witnesses, to pay them the regular fee allowed for appearing."

Motion Is Approved

Councilman Guy Knutson and Wesley Hansen questioned whether, in investigating alleged "discrimination and lack of cooperation" in the Police Department, that officers would not volunteer to appear. Subpoenas might not be necessary, they said.

Mayor Robert E. LeMire said he believed the Civil Service Commission should be supported in its request. Motion to grant the request of the Commission chairman was made by Councilman Jacob Bink supported by Councilman Hansen.

The Civil Service Commission will hold its first meeting tonight. The hearing will be closed to the public, Chairman Benzinger said yesterday.

Paving Cost Shared

In other business the Council adopted a resolution requested by the State Highway Department in which the city agrees to pay $27,000 over a three-year period, without interest, as its share in the cost of US-241-M-35 intersection improvement in Escanaba. The first $9,000 payment will be due Jan. 30.

The Council also received a communication from Lambert Peterson, Carnegie Public Library custodian, asking that his employment be continued so that he might receive retirement benefits. The state law under which the employee pension system is operated requires retirement at age 70. The Council expressed regret but said it has no authority in the matter.

Generals Who Became President

U. S. Grant was the first graduate of West Point ever to become president of the U. S. He was commissioned in 1842 and had an distinguished record in the Mexican War. Grant, in 1854, resigned from the service following warnings from his superiors on his drinking habits.

He was down and out when the Civil War started. After brilliant victories at Shiloh and Vicksburg he became the most heroic figure in America. On April 9, 1865, Grant climaxed his military career when General Lee surrendered at Appomattox, ending the conflict that had threatened to dissolve the nation.

The people in 1868 were sick of the ordinary politician and the crooked methods that had dominated the country during the Johnson administration. Grant, the young military hero, appealed to their imagination and was elected impressively over the Democratic nominee Horatio Seymour.

By Ray Ellis and Ed Kudlaty

Grant served two terms and was defeated in his third-term attempt. He was a great man, but a poor president; he was duped by his friends. During his regime the Whiskey Ring and Credit Mobilier scandals shook the nation. He did settle the Alabama claims against England, was on record for civil service reform and made the first attempt to treat the Indians in a humane manner.

Council Studies Salary Schedule

Further consideration and study will be given a proposed new classification and salary schedule affecting some employees in Escanaba City Hall by the City Council, it was decided in last night's meeting.

The proposed new classifications, as recommended by the Civil Service Commission, will come before the Council again at its next meeting.

It is proposed to replace the present classification of junior, senior and principal clerks with new classifications of Account Clerk 1, 2, 3 and 4 and Meter Reader. A total of 15 persons are affected by the classification. There would be only a slight change in salary cost to the city.

Auditors Recommendation
During discussion of the proposal it was reported by City Manager A. V. Aronson that reorganization has been completed to place responsibility for collections with City Treasurer Belle Harvey, while City Comptroller Alfred Lawrence is responsible for the billing.

The change had been recommended to the city by two auditors in their annual reports.

Councilman Jacob Bink expressed concern that collection service might be impaired by the reorganization but City Manager Aronson said that clerks assigned to billing would, on request, also assist in collections.

Purchase Equipment
In other business the Council authorized the city manager to advertise for bids for the purchase of a leaf mill, a new piece of equipment for the parks and forestry department.

The purchase was recommended by Robert Clayton, superintendent of parks and forestry, who said the new equipment is designed to cut up the leaves that accumulate on the grounds in the parks and deposit them back on the ground as mulch.

Considerable saving in leaf raking and hauling costs will be obtained and the soil will be improved, Clayton reported. The cost of the new equipment will be paid from the parks and forestry department budget.

Rocket Pictures Sun, 50 Miles Up

BOULDER, Colo. (AP)—A rocket has carried an instrument designed by University of Colorado scientists 50 miles above the earth for the first pictures of the sun's spectrum in extreme ultraviolet wavelengths.

The rocket was fired last month at Holloman Research and Development Center, New Mexico, and results of the tests were announced today by W. B. Pietenpol, head of the university's physics department. He also is supervisor of the upper atmosphere research program.

Three Years On Device
Pietenpol reported that university physicists have worked three years to perfect what he said is a sun-seeking device, or pointing control for high-altitude rockets.

The electronic-mechanical object is designed to hold an instrument pointed at the sun while a rocket rolls and yaws in flight.

It also has to be rugged enough to withstand the forces of high acceleration and to operate so that film can be exposed. The Colorado scientist said the instrument mounted in the rocket fired last month pointed directly at the sun for a considerable period and obtained a 28-second exposure of the spectrum.

Dr. Pietenpol said that scientists previously photographed the spectrum to about 2,000 Angstrom units, but that in the Colorado experiment powerful ultraviolet radiation emitted by the hydrogen in the sun's atmosphere was photographed for the first time.

Much of that radiation is concentrated in a spectrum line at 1,216 Angstrom units, or the so-called Lyman Alpha Line. It was what the university scientists hoped to get and succeeded in photographing.

Important Radio Factor
Dr. Pietenpol explained that solar radiation is the cause of ionospheric layers in the upper atmosphere and those stratified concentrations of electrons can be observed by radio wave reflection and are an important factor in radio propagation.

The ionosphere rises from the absorption of ultraviolet radiation from the sun, Dr. Pietenpol continued, and the absorption has great meteorological significance.

The University of Colorado research is supported by the Air Force Cambridge Research Center geophysics division. Research

School Segregation At Army Posts Not His Job, Says McGrath

WASHINGTON (AP)—Commissioner of Education Earl J. McGrath says he is forbidden by law to interfere with racial segregation of school pupils on Army posts.

This is a local practice, he said, and out of his jurisdiction. Sen. Humphrey (D-Minn) had protested such segregation at Ft. Sam Houston and Ft. Bliss in Texas, Ft. Sill in Oklahoma and Ft. Belvoir in Virginia.

Assistant Secretary of Defense Anna Rosenberg said segregation violates Pentagon policies. She put the matter up to McGrath.

The schools are operated by community authorities with the help of federal funds granted upon approval of McGrath's office.

Ending Price Curbs Would Cost Billions, Stabilizer Declares

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ending price controls now would cost the nation more than three billion dollars a year in higher prices, says Price Stabilizer Joseph Freehill.

His report yesterday to Economic Stabilizer Michael V. DiSalle said this is a "very conservative estimate."

Much of the increase would come in defense goods, he said, but price rises boosting living costs could be expected in such consumer items as foods, tobacco, fuels, drugs and cosmetics, personal services, automotive repairs and household appliances.

Dulles Iron Curtain Propaganda Scheme May Run Into Snag

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—John Foster Dulles seems certain to encounter an argument within the State Department over his plan to try to loosen Russia's hold over its satellites by new political and propaganda strategy.

The secretary of state-designate for the Eisenhower administration told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee yesterday he is convinced that a policy of expressing U. S. concern for peaceful liberation of the Iron Curtain lands can and must be adopted.

Confirmation Assured
After hearing Dulles on this and other foreign policy views for two hours, the committee unanimously voted to recommend Senate confirmation of Dulles after the inauguration next Tuesday.

Dulles said "no permanent reconciliation" with Russia is possible so long as the Kremlin seeks to extend its power over the free world. He thought that "limited agreements of a working character" may be possible.

"A policy which only contains Russia is bound to fail," Dulles said, referring to the basic containment theory of the outgoing Truman administration. Soviet power, he continued, can be cut back "in a way which will not constitute a general war or instigate an insurrection (in a satellite country) that would be crushed." He cited Yugoslavia as an example of a nation which has broken away from Kremlin domination.

Diplomats See Risk
It is on the point of what may be done short of risking new danger or trouble with Allied countries that the incoming secretary seems destined to run into argument and objection in the State Department.

Present policy advisers, including career diplomats who will carry over into the new regime, have developed their thinking around the idea of preventing new expansion of Russian power rather than rolling it back. They have long contended that propaganda which focuses hopes on freedom in the satellites runs a serious risk of setting off futile uprising.

They have also argued that the U. S. and its allies are not prepared to back up such appeals with force, if that should become necessary, concern as been expressed, too, that Western Europe-

Reports were given by the various chairmen of activities being carried on by their committees, including the loan committee, service committee, dressing committee and educational committee. A report was also given by the treasurer in regard to donations received in the form of memorials to deceased persons—a practice which is growing in popularity. There was a brief discussion of plans for the annual fund raising campaign which will be held in April.

Officers and committee chairmen selected are: President, Jas. R. Fitzharris; commander, Mrs. Bruno Nardi; secretary, Mrs. Alfred Gossan; campaign treasurer, Carl R. Wickman; treasurer, Mrs. Ray W. Construction Of New Elementary School In Escanaba Is Essential

WHEN the school bond issue proposal was rejected by the voters of Escanaba last year, it was evident that the rejection did not and could not put an end to efforts to solve the city's school building problem.

That issue was defeated primarily because it provided for the construction of a new high school as well as for an elementary school and facilities for special education. Many people thought that the proposed construction was too ambitious.

However, the urgent need for at least one new elementary school was generally recognized and a large number of people who voted against the bond issue then said that they would vote for a smaller bond issue, provided for an elementary school but not a new high school.

The issue is coming forward again and it is likely that this time efforts will be concentrated upon the construction only of an elementary school, kindergarten through sixth grade, in the southwest portion of the city. This is a section where overcrowding is most acute and a section where community growth is the largest and fastest.

It is also likely that the construction program will include provisions for a classrooms for special education but funds for this portion of the project are already available by the bequest from the late Mrs. Catherine Bonifas, who provided $150,000 to the school district for this purpose.

The school building situation is serious in Escanaba, just as it is in many cities throughout the United States. The large birth rate of the early postwar years has created a demand upon school facilities that is urgent. The children are already here and it is up to the taxpayers to provide facilities to educate them.

Historians Have The Last Word

ONE of the remarkable features of present-day life is the self-consciousness of our top political figures about their places in history.

Nowadays our statesmen generally begin making things easy for the historian even before they have laid down the robes of office. A considerable time before he died, Franklin D. Roosevelt was busy helping along the project for the memorial library that now houses his official and private papers.

Friends already are raising funds for a similar library in Grandview, Mo., for President Truman's documents. But Mr. Truman couldn't wait for that project to get going. He permitted publication in 1952 of a book that reveals a lot of his private papers. In these last days in the White House, he's concentrating on setting the historians right.

And for more than a decade, others have been galloping into print with their memoirs at the earliest possible moment.

All this is very thoughtful of these gentlemen. But one may be pardoned for suspecting that the objective historian may still find quite a lot of work cut out for him in evaluating their respective places in history.

The Doctor Says... Children Should Have Milk In Their School Lunches

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M.D. — Written for NEA Service

If today's first question really tells the true story, it is certainly extraordinary, probably the result of a misunderstanding. Q—The teachers at the school my children attend insist that the youngsters drink ice water for lunch because they say it cuts down the number of flies in the schoolroom. I don't mind giving the children ice water, but then they do not drink their milk. Please advise if ice water is helpful in keeping flies out of a schoolroom—wouldn't a good spraying do? Parent.

A—It is impossible for me to see how there could be any difference between ice water and ordinary water in keeping flies out of a schoolroom. No doubt the teacher feels that empty milk bottles attract flies. Certainly, ice water should not be substituted for milk in school lunches; there is one reason to believe that ice water is not so desirable because of its effect on the stomach. If flies are a source of trouble in the schoolroom, some other method should be sought to get rid of them or keep them out.

Q—I have read that the carbohydrates a person eats start to digest in the mouth if chewed and mixed with saliva, that they do not digest much in the stomach, and that in the small intestine. Is this correct? R.B.

A—It is.

Q—Please say something about nourish-

We are confident that if a proposal for one new elementary school is presented to the voters, plus the special education facilities for which the money is available, the taxpayers of Escanaba will approve the millage increase that will be necessary to finance the project.

EMPLOYEES BECOME OWNERS (Industrial News Review)

More and more companies have been setting up plans whereby employees can voluntarily buy stock in the concern. This is usually done under a payroll deduction system. The money is held by a trustee in individual accounts for each participating employee. In most cases, the majority of eligible employees have taken part.

The merits of such plans, in the view of those who have studied them, is that they create closer bonds of understanding between employees and management, provide a stimulus to more efficient workmanship and management, and serve as a springboard to a deeper interest, appreciation and comprehension of our private enterprise system.

It is certainly true that a man who is a shareholder in industry—whether it be in the company for which he works or others—will be a firm foe of socialism, communism, or any other ism which would destroy free enterprise. He will be a man with a personal interest in all the problems which industry faces, including those of political origin, taxation, labor etc. He will be a man who realizes that his own future welfare is directly tied up with the welfare of business.

Furthermore, the steady increase that is taking place in the number of shareholders in American enterprise is bringing about a form of true "public ownership" which is in perfect accord with the free enterprise system. It strengthens all our freedom. It is the antithesis of the political kind of "public ownership" that comes with socialism—a kind that ultimately destroys freedom, and reduces the individual to serfdom.

LEST WE FORGET (Christian Science Monitor)

Since automobiles began to "steal" the American scene—the last 50 years—casualties of the highway have out-numbered all the casualties of the battlefield in the nation's history.

There are three approaches to a solution. One is to cut down speed by laws strictly enforced and by drastically reducing the power of cars. This is a sensible approach, but standing alone is insufficiently realistic.

The second is to make automobiles as safe as they possibly can be at any speed. Indiana State Police, Cornell University, and several manufacturers are cooperating in a fascinating research into what causes serious and fatal injuries—steering wheels, instrument knobs, windshields, etc. This, too, is sensible, and, within limits, realistic. (Will auto passengers be content with riding backwards?) But neither can this approach stand alone.

The third approach, via the human element. The railroads, for instance, have done much in this direction with their all-steel cars, block signals, automatic train controls, and heavy rails heavily ballasted. But the railroads are keenly aware of the third approach—via the human element. Few safety devices exist which recklessness, carelessness, and drunkenness can't thwart. To check these three takes education and discipline, by law and by public opinion—lest, in our fascination with the marvels of engineering, we forget.

Youngsters marched out carrying their books when a grade school burned in Tennessee. Won't those kids ever learn anything?

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—It is now possible to report the chief highlights of the Churchill-Eisenhower and the Churchill-Washington conversations; also some of the amusing sidelights—for no conversation with the British prime minister is without its whimsical moments.

During the New York talks when Churchill was urging Anglo-American cooperation of atomic energy, Eisenhower remarked that one of his problems was to keep the committees of Congress advised.

"Yes," grunted Churchill, "I've had considerable experience in advising your committees. My friend Mr. Roosevelt had trouble advising the committees of Congress. And my friend Mr. Truman had the same trouble. And when I have come over here I have had to advise them myself."

During the dinner at the British embassy in Washington, the top statesmen of the Anglo-American world also spent some little time discussing such weighty matters as American and British slang, how certain colloquialisms got started, and seemed especially intrigued over the origin of one of Mr. Truman's pet phrases referring to a pain in a certain portion of the anatomy.

President Truman told Churchill not to be surprised if he showed up in London soon; and after the President played a couple of his favorite pieces on the embassy's grand piano, the Prime Minister quipped: "I wonder if General Eisenhower can do as well?"

MEET WITH STALIN

The Churchill-Eisenhower talks in New York were inconclusive but extremely helpful for future guidance. Here is a summary of their main points:

Big Three Meeting—Churchill virtually paraphrased Governor Stevenson's advice that the solution to the Korean War was in Moscow and deftly suggested that like not take his eye off Moscow. He urged that Eisenhower think seriously about accepting Stalin's idea of a joint meeting, emphasized that he would want to be present at such a meeting, said that even if nothing came of it, the meeting would at least show we are not warmongers and that the West is not afraid to meet with Stalin. Eisenhower appeared sympathetic.

Korea—The Prime Minister objected vigorously to plans for using Chiang Kai-Shek's troops in Korea and the idea of blockading the Chinese mainland. This was perhaps the only discordant note of the session. Churchill argued eloquently that this would spread the war to the Chinese mainland. Finally, Eisenhower told him he hadn't definitely decided what to do.

Eisenhower also said he hadn't made up his mind what should be done about a new offensive in Korea, though it is under consideration. He was convinced that some new strategy must be developed in a hurry to end the stalemate, agreed to talk more conclusively after he became President. No new offensive, he promised, would be undertaken without prior consultation. Details of a proposed offensive were discussed, but cannot be revealed here.

Far East—Churchill expressed concern over the economic threat of Japan, said Japanese cheap labor might knock the United Kingdom out of world markets, warned that England might need stronger barriers against both Japan and Germany. If help was forthcoming on this, Churchill hinted that England would be more helpful in defending Europe.

He seemed miffed that Truman hadn't worked out a deal with the British labor government to include England in "Anzus," the Australia, New Zealand, U.S. A pact for defense of the Far East, and proposed that Britain be admitted, together with France and perhaps India or Indonesia.

Atom Bomb—The Prime Minister detailed the large amount of money England recently spent developing atomic energy, argued that it was senseless for the free world to drain its resources by such duplication, emphasized the importance of exchanging atomic information. On this point Eisenhower is bound by law not to exchange information with any other country, so could only promise to examine the entire matter with Congress.

Middle East—Churchill put great emphasis on cooperation in this delicate area, especially Iran. A compromise for the arbitration of the Iranian oil dispute, more acceptable to the British, is being negotiated secretly in London; so part of the urgency of this problem was eased. Churchill suggested that U.S. troops patrol the Suez Canal along with the British.

ACHESON'S LAST PLEA

European Defense—During most of the New York talks Churchill was the eloquent pleader, Eisenhower the listener. But in Washington, Dean Acheson reversed this and staged one of his most eloquent and perhaps last appeal as Secretary of State.

Acheson, who is the father of the North Atlantic defense pact, took a hurried trip to Europe last spring when it looked as if France and Germany might not sign the unified European Army Treaty. Thanks largely to his daring mission plus Acheson's eloquence, the pact was rescued. But since then, changing governments in France together with presidential elections here have sent NATO goals downward and put the unified European army in serious jeopardy.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Lansing—Attorney General Herbert J. Lansing, two-fisted legal adviser to the state, joined the Michigan legislature with a formal opinion asserting it had no authority to turn the clock back one hour from "war time."

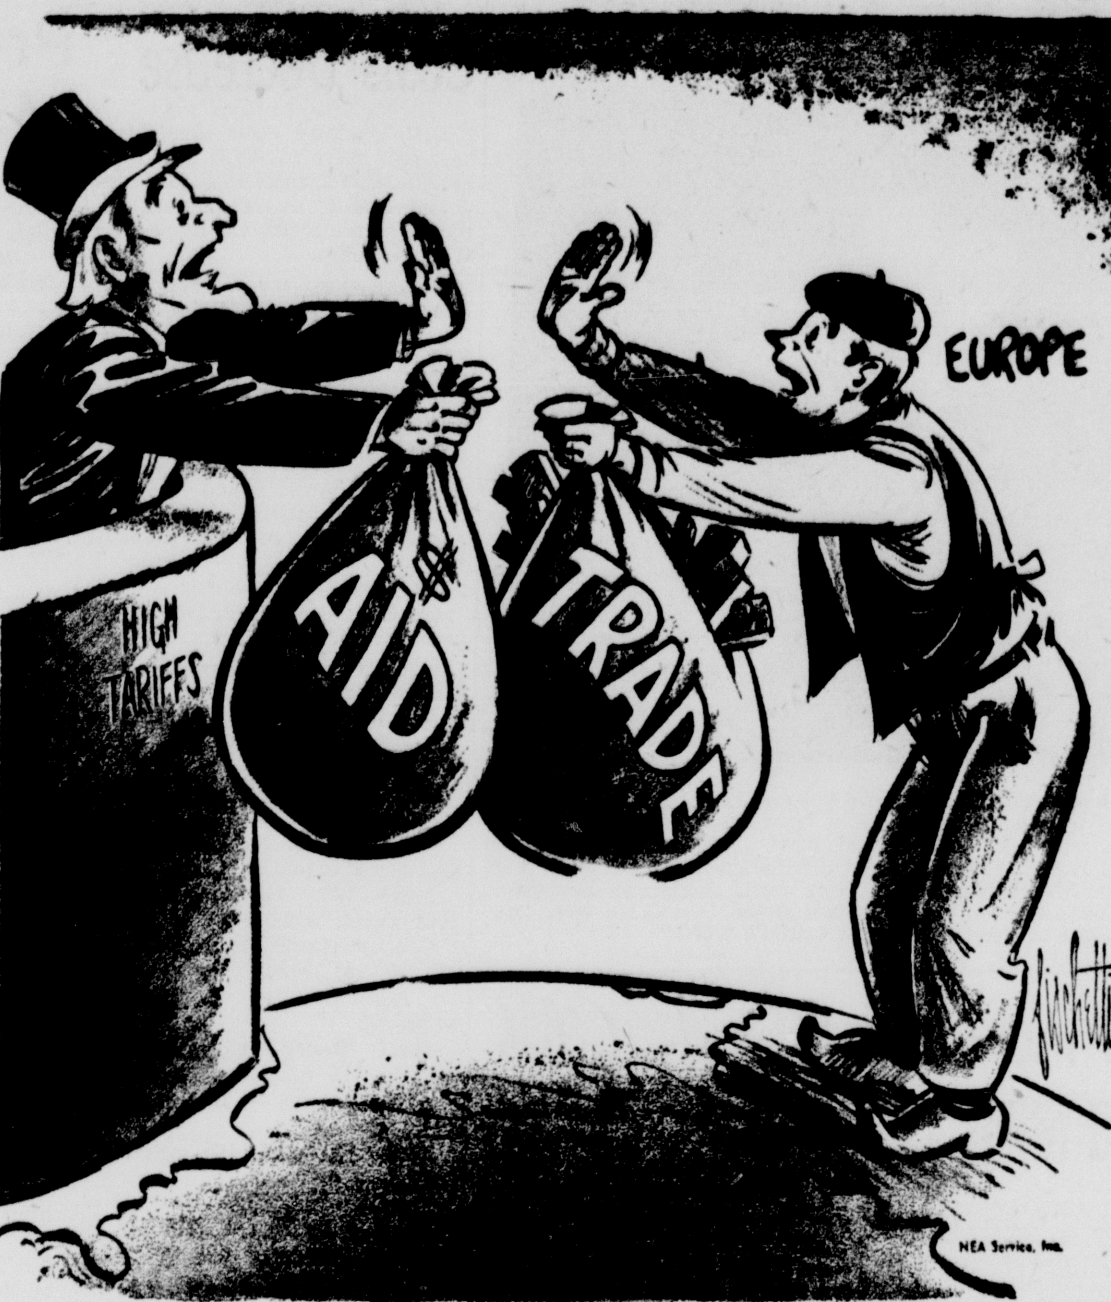

Gladstone—Alfred S. Gladstone, 13, lost a thumb and finger when a dynamite cap exploded in his hand at school, but no other pupils were injured.

20 YEARS AGO

Manistiquette—At a meeting of the directors of the State Savings Bank the following officers were elected: W. J. Shinar, president; G. S. Johnson, vice president; H. K. Bundy, cashier; Leonard Males, assistant cashier.

Cleveland—The Cleveland News said estimates from the steel industry were that 18,500,000 to 26,000,000 tons of iron ore would be brought down to Lake Erie ports this year.

Box Suppers For 7,000, All-Star Festivals Are Her Contribution

By DOUGLAS LARSEN

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—Mrs. A. Burks Summers, the lady Republican ball-of-fire who mothered the Lincoln Day box supper idea, is out to make P. T. Barnum look like a small-time piker.

She has whipped up a show for inaugural eve, Jan. 19, which she modestly insists is "the biggest and most fabulous presentation of its kind ever staged." She elaborates:

"There has never been anything like the festival we have planned. It will be the biggest collection of stars and celebrities ever assembled for one performance. It's the salute of the whole entertainment world to our great new President."

Among the unique features of her show, she explains, will be five masters of ceremonies, three separate stages and "any number of big name bands."

Movie star George Murphy is her first lieutenant, helping to line up the talent. Included among the famous persons who are appearing are Fred Waring and his band, Ethel Merman, Lily Pons, Edgar Bergen, Helen Hayes, Walter Pidgeon and James Melton. But that just starts the list, Mrs. Summers claims.

Such items as how to cram all this talent into two hours, how to house the stars, arrange scenery and decorations and spread only 7000 available tickets to the event among five times that number of persons who want to attend, are small details to Mrs. Summers. Actually, she admits, this is one of her lesser undertakings.

She fits the job neatly into her routine. Her secretary picks her up at her 20-acre Maryland estate early in the morning. Mrs. Summers does the driving and dictates most of her correspondence. Thus she's all ready for the staff meetings and interviews as soon as she walks into her office. She runs the 150 various members of her committee like a seasoned executive.

If Mrs. Summers is anywhere near typical of the crop of GOP ladies who will be taking over here soon, the GOP men are going to have to go some to be noticed.

Mrs. Summers wears tailored suits, glasses elaborately decorated with elephants and small hats which perch atop her head. She talks to you like a coach giving pre-game instructions. Her steely-blue eyes look right through you.

The fact is, she did have a rating as a basketball coach once. In order to get a plane ride to Chile to join her husband, just after the war, she signed on as an assistant coach with a basketball team heading down there for some exhibition games.

She has a married daughter living in Germany and a son who recently was graduated from West Point and is now serving in Korea. She beat her son to Korea by about 20 years, incidentally.

During the '30s she made an extended tour of the whole Far East, writing newspaper articles, visiting friends, and hunting and fishing with her husband when their paths happened to cross out there.

Her husband is a big game

MRS. A. BURKS SUMMERS: "There has never been anything like it."

hunter, economist of note, wealthy businessman and a personal friend of President-elect Eisenhower. He's also well known among most of the Republican brass and has been active in the party for many years.

He thinks it's wonderful that his wife enjoys accompanying him on his hunting trips, traveling with him and taking such an active part in national GOP affairs.

"Helen is not quite the crack marksman she used to be, doesn't like to ride as much, and won't go fishing so often," he says a little regretfully, however.

Mrs. Summers broke into the big-time promotion business in Philadelphia before the war, running the famous, week-long society horse shows there. She is a member of scores of organizations and societies. But she first won national fame as the originator of the Lincoln Day Box Suppers.

"I thought it was just awful that only a select few wealthy persons could go to Republican Lincoln Day dinners, and so I came up with the box dinner idea," she says. "It gave everybody a chance to be a part of that important event and I think created a brand new feeling in the party."

First tried by her in Washington in 1950, the box supper idea quickly spread to every state and is now a GOP institution.

Mrs. Summers insists she has no ambitions for a big federal job. She does a lot of entertaining, likes to be free to take off to some distant point with her husband at any time and is plenty busy with her other activities.

So They Say

It looks like somebody took grain and threw it out. Only instead of grain it's bodies.—Cpl. William Johnson, after a Korean battle.

I would like to ask Mr. Ehrenburg (Soviet writer) of the Soviet delegation why the (Indian Korean) plan was rejected.—Mrs. Alexandra Plagio, Italian delegate to Vienna Red "Peace" Congress.

Today we are held back (in natural resources reclamation) less by the obstacles of nature than by the obstacles of human cussedness, and the limits of our progress are set, not by what our scientists can do, but by what our statesmen cannot do.—Michael Strauss, federal reclamation commissioner.

Like the atomic bomb, the cosmotron achieves partition and produces reactions that are vastly more violent than any man has produced before. We hope that this is the only resemblance between the two devices.—Dr. Henry D. Smyth of the Atomic Energy Commission.

He (Capt. Henry Saukant, skipper of ship that broke in two off Leghorn, Italy) has been at sea for 30 years, and that's enough for any man. He's not going again if I can help it.—Mrs. Henry Saukant, after her husband was rescued.

Anybody who has an answer to shorten the (Korean) war one minute or to save a single life should give it immediately to the Joint Chiefs of Staff.—Anna Rosenberg, Assistant Secretary of Defense.

Good Evening...

By CLINT DUNATHAN

THROUGH OTHER EYES—What do those who have lived in other cities think of Escanaba after residing here? What is their impression of our people?

We decided to find out by asking some of the people who have lived here and are in the process of moving away.

E. H. "Ed" Niederauer of 1200 Eighth Ave. S., a chemical engineer employed in an administrative position by the Mead Corporation at its Escanaba Paper Company plant for the past six years, was the first one to whom we put our question.

Niederauer that day left for a new assignment with Mead Corporation at Kingsport, Tenn. His family will remain here until June.

"What most impressed you about Escanaba during your stay in this city?" we asked.

THE FRIENDLY PEOPLE—"The genuine spirit of friendliness demonstrated by the people of Escanaba has most impressed me," Niederauer replied.

"I don't know whether the people of Escanaba appreciate the democratic spirit prevailing in their city. We found that in Escanaba it didn't matter who you were or how much your salary was, but what you were, that counted."

In some communities—and Niederauer has lived in several cities—"the people don't accept newcomers."

"Here in Escanaba we found that we were welcome. People invited us to join in what was going on in the community."

AND THEIR CITY—The Niederauer family was not only made to feel welcome, but Ed was put to work on community service projects. He resigned as chairman of the Escanaba Planning Commission when assigned to Kingsport.

We pointed out that perhaps Escanaba welcomed Niederauer because he was a friendly and civic-minded man. But Escanaba does give the newcomer every opportunity to join in community affairs, Niederauer replied.

"I don't believe some Escanaba people appreciate what they have here," he said bluntly.

"You do have a good city government and you have a good town. The people in city government are trying to do a good job. Everyone is not satisfied, of course, but that does not mean that anything is wrong."

Sometimes when people have never lived in but one town they are able to see only that town's faults, never its good points, he added.

PLACE TO LIVE—The physical attributes of the Escanaba area please the Niederauers.

"We like the climate and the children like the swimming and other summertime sports and the opportunity to enjoy winter recreation," he said.

When we ask Mrs. Niederauer for a comment on the subject of what most impressed her with Escanaba the answer was similar to that her husband had given—the friendly people.

"What do I like most about Escanaba? The good friends we have made here," she said. "We love it here and have never before felt this way about leaving any town."

BETTER THAN EVER—After talking with Mr. and Mrs. Niederauer we reviewed what Escanaba has that we like and came to the same conclusion they have—that it is a good place to live and we would not like to move to another town.

We also have lived in a number of other cities. Our feeling toward Escanaba is best expressed in the words of Ed Niederauer after returning from a business trip:

"When I saw Escanaba again it looked better than ever to me."

Power With Words

J. H. S., Washington, Pa.—"When 'stave' is used as the plural of 'staff,' as it is in several places in the Bible the pronunciation may be either 'stavyz' or 'stavz,' that is, either with so-called long a or with short a."

Raleigh, N. C.—"To settle an argument you can tell me whether 'off' and 'about' can be used together in any construction in English?"—A. P. B.

Answer—Oh yes, as: "A gang of about fifteen men were working on the house"; "A girl of about seven years." "About," in these instances, is an adverb meaning nearly, approximately, not many more or less than.

Milwaukee, Wis.—"Save my life and tell me what authority some of the best writers use 'the lie of the land'?"—Mrs. L. A. P.

Answer—"The noun 'lie' and the noun 'lay' have one meaning in common. That is, either of them may be used to mean the manner or arrangement in which something lies. With equal correctness, therefore, one may say either 'the lie of the land' or 'the lay of the land.' In the United States we prefer the latter; our British cousins prefer the former."

Oh, for the good old horse-and-buggy days when there was no sidewalk! It was all "Get up!"

Danger Real In Aberdare Hills

By ROBERT C. RUARK

THOMSON FALLS, Kenya Colony—When my friend Harry Selby, the youngster who hunts with me, came to collect me at the hotel in Nairobi for a trip to the center of the Mau Mau violence, he was wearing a .45 strapped to his hip. This seemed an unusual show of bravado in a young man who would have sneered at a gunpacker as a Hollywood cowboy a few months back.

It was not until I got to Thomson Falls, a charming little farm community in the Aberdare hills, that I understood the meaning of Harry's gun. The entire town goes armed. Women are actually matching the color of their gunholsters to their frocks.

Dinner is eaten with guns on hips and rifles standing against the table. When a person bathes, the revolver is in the soap dish. When a person sleeps, the revolver is under the pillow, the concealed holster is as much a part of the costume today as in the pioneer days of our old west.

Brutal Murders

In areas such as these it is impossible to move after dark without running into a roadblock or a curfew. Even outside Nairobi, a man who ventures a few miles from town to attend a dance at a country club in Limuru, or some such, has his car halted and identification demanded.

These precautions, so mindful of our old days when ladies bore babies with one eye peeled for the Redskins and a rifle standing handy, stem from a series of frightful murders in this area, including that of the husband of the beloved Dr. Meiklejohn by her house boys, and the frightful maiming of his wife, a doctor beloved for her kindness and charity to the Africans about her—not only those on the Meiklejohn property but on adjoining acres.

The air of tension in the Falls is high. In the pub, the young Lancashire fusiliers come in, rifle in hand, for a beer with civilians bearing revolvers on their hips. I had cocktails and dinner with friends in the area. Each man wore a gun on his hip, and two rifles leaned in a corner. Outside armed Askaris were on duty.

Pistol Under Pillow

The area around the Falls, in the Aberdares, has been peculiarly marked for Mau Mau atrocity, since the Mau Mau movement is still all-Kikuyu, and this land was never originally Kikuyu property. It was Masai land, and became Fallow when the Masai were resettled on their own land to the south.

I saw some things and heard

TOUGH, BUT GENTLE—Marine Sgt. Frank Praytor, above, of Birmingham, Ala., is a holy terror to the enemy but he also can be as gentle as they come. Praytor rescued this tiny kitten as a mortar barrage thundered around his position on a Korean hill. When the barrage lifted, Operation Eye-Dropper got under way for feeding "Miss Hap," so named because she was born at the wrong time, and in the wrong place.

Home Of Washington Ancestors Restored

NEW YORK (AP)—The home where George Washington's ancestors lived in Sunderland, England, is being restored, reports the British Information Service here. It is hoped to complete the building, known as Old Hall, and grounds in time for the coronation next June.

The Old Hall will be presented to the people of Washington D. C. as a goodwill gesture. The building will be weather-proofed and surrounded by a lawn flower garden and have antique furnishings inside. Contributions for the project, costing about $28,000 came from both England and the United States, the announcement says.

The Old Hall was the home of William de Washington, who settled there in 1183, the report states. In 1376 the family moved to Northamptonshire, where they remained until Washington's grandfather emigrated to Virginia.

North America's second largest waterfall is believed to be the Grand Falls of the Hamilton River at the edge of the Labrador Plateau.

some things and when I camped out a couple of nights later, in the vicinity, I found myself wearing a gun on my hip like everybody else. And sleeping with it under my pillow.

It was not a foolish feeling, for when we switched on the portable radio for the news broadcast the following night, the announcer said that two farmers had been murdered a few miles distant, while having dinner. It appears his servants had let in the mob, which cut the farmers to bits.

I remembered this as a dreamy, peaceful land. And now I sleep with a pistol under my pillow, and have Mau Mau nightmares.

Japanese Farmers Are 50 Years Ahead

MANILA (AP)—A Filipino Department of Agriculture expert says Japan is making unprecedented improvements in agriculture and is 50 years ahead of the Philippines in developing agricultural and fishing techniques.

Jose M. Trinidad, chief of the department's technical division, says "it would take at least three or four Filipino farmers to equal the productive capacity of one Japanese farmer." He attributed this to Japan's more favorable climate, crop rotation, seed selection and a far greater use of fertilizers.

Century-Old Cannon Found In Hong Kong

HONG KONG (AP)—Two century-old cannon, which guarded this British Crown colony in the days of Queen Victoria, have been found in a tangle of jungle on hills overlooking this city.

An artillery officer said the guns, weighing a ton apiece, must have been from a British man-of-war and no doubt were the pride of early Hong Kong defenders. The dates stamped on the cannon showed they were made in 1835.

DENVER (AP)—She used to be a slave shoeing flies in the home of the Tennessee colonel who owned her but even now at 103, Mrs. Chaney Myers says "I'm still as supple as a girl."

After the Civil War freed her, she and her husband headed west to a roaring gold-mining camp at Victor, Colo., where she cooked for the miners and her husband worked in the mines. He died in 1922.

Training For War Emergency Is Urged

MANILA (AP)—House Speaker Eugene Perez wants the Philippines to revive citizens military training to build up a reserve force of 120,000 men for emergencies.

Perez recalled that the late President Manuel Quezon created a big reserve force with a citizens training plan and it was ready when World War II broke out in Asia.

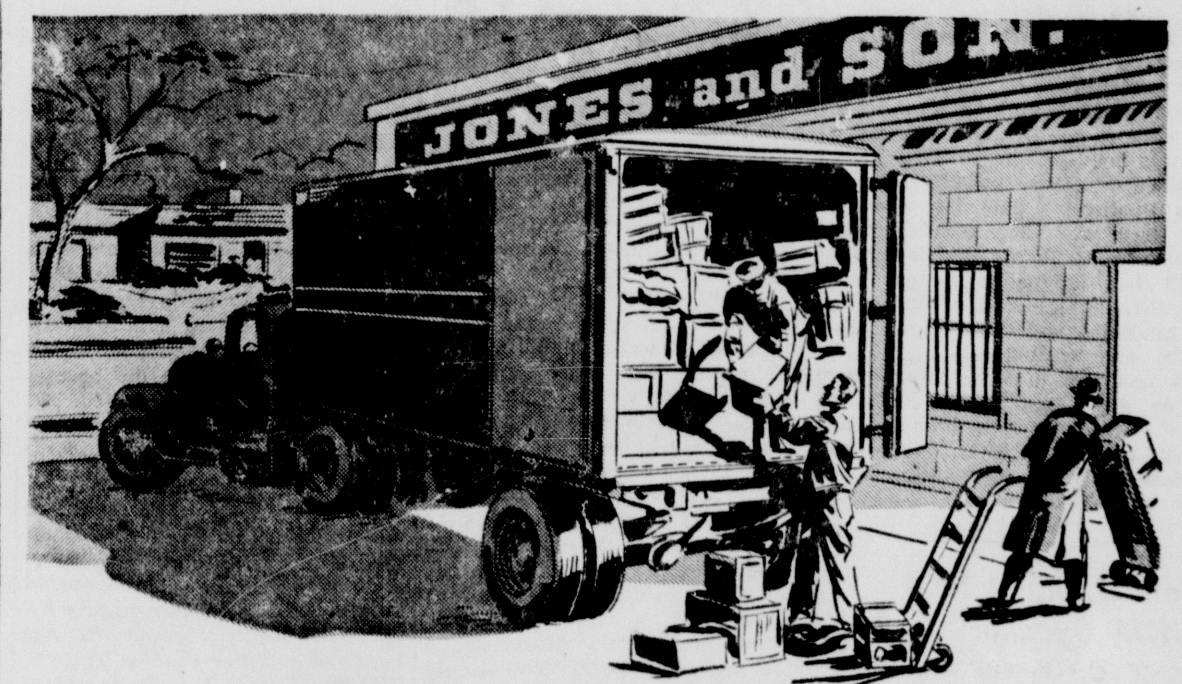

The Philippines now train 6,000 youths each year, but Perez wants that stepped up to 10,000.

While You Sleep TRUCKS WORK FOR YOU!

TONIGHT, while you are fast asleep, they'll be unloading a truck-trailer at your favorite super market—carting in the refrigerated meat, fresh, iced vegetables and fruit, and all the other choice articles of food you'll find on display when you go marketing tomorrow morning.

This is going on all over Michigan, at food stores in every town and city—and, for that matter, at loading docks of scores of other industries. It's just part of the great American way of life and of doing business, a system built on the good idea that the customer is the boss and that a business has to serve to succeed.

Food stores want their customers to have a full selection of fresh merchandise every morning—so they call on trucks to stock their shelves and counters while you and most of Michigan sleep.

Without trucks, the super market just couldn't give the customer this sort of service. Without trucks—well, things just wouldn't be the same at all in any business and the people of Michigan just wouldn't be enjoying the comforts and conveniences they're enjoying today.

If you've got it, a truck brought it!

Sprightly Mamie Will Be Boon To Millinery Trade

By DOROTHY ROE
AP Women's Editor

Having a hat-conscious first lady in the White House is like money in the bank to the U. S. millinery industry.

The New York wholesale millinery district which turns out the bulk of the millinery bought by the average American woman, is jubilant over reports of Mamie Eisenhower's enthusiasm over hats.

Duchess Not Much Help
Things have not always been so good for the milliners, wholesale or custom. There was a time in the '30s when debutante Brenda Frazier nearly wrecked the industry by starting a hatless fad that swept the country.

The hatless threat has recurred from time to time when some fashion celebrity happened to be caught with her hat off and a photographer present, and other women decided it was chic to follow the leader.

Even the clothes conscious Duchess of Windsor has been little help to the millinery industry, clinging to her beanie through thick and thin. Those little cap-hats are so small they sometimes don't show at all.

Orders By Dozen
But now we are about to have a first lady who adores hats—and the more the merrier.

Mrs. Eisenhower took 50 hats along on the campaign train. She has ordered a dozen new ones from one New York milliner alone to take to the White House as a starter for spring.

Moreover, the sprightly Mamie has a distinct flair for wearing her hats well. She selects small, face-framing shapes that look well with her distinctive bangs, and employs a skillful sense of color in matching and contrasting chapeaux and costumes.

A new hat to Mrs. Eisenhower is as good as a spring tonic—a trait common to many women. She perks up at once after prescribing a new bonnet for herself—and two are even better.

AS WE LIVE

Men Will Flee From Over-Emotional Woman

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.
One of the most important things a young woman must learn is to keep her feelings under control. This is essential in both business and romances. This young woman is learning how important this is the hard way:

(Q) "I met a man recently whom I liked very much. He promised to write but he didn't. He promised to call and he didn't. I have written him twice and have received no answer. He is very much like someone I once loved. I told him I loved him. I started crying and couldn't help it because he reminded me so much of the man I used to love. I don't want to lose him, too. Do you think I take men too seriously?"

You certainly do take young men far too seriously. You should never, under any conditions, tell a young man that you love him until he has told you that he loves you. This is a first rule of courtship and you must learn it if you want to avoid scaring young men away.

You should never have written to him if he had not written to you as he promised. Nor should you call him until he has called you. This looks like pursuit on your part and any young man is likely to resent it. He wants to be the one who does the pursuing.

As for crying, that would be enough to finish any romance that may have started. In the days when your grandmother was a young woman, it was common for young women to cry when they were happy, sad, or mad. But women today are expected to act differently. Young men do not melt under the influence of female tears. They regard the woman who cries as a "crybaby" and they usually cross her off their list.

If you want to hold a man's affection, you must learn to keep your feelings under control. Even if you like him, don't tell him until he has told you how he feels about you. Don't pursue him and don't show him how much you care for him by crying. Take the young men you meet more casually until there is some reason for you to become serious about them.

If you have a problem about family or friend, ask Dr. Hurlock to help you. Write in care of this newspaper.

NEW YORK —(NEA)—The things that are happening to cotton are nothing short of miraculous. Each new season brings fresh fabric treatments that put cotton in places it's never been seen before.

Lately, it has joined forces with chiffon and wool to produce an evening fashion (left) of great beauty. In Hope Skillman's satin pique, the dress is embroidered with pearls and beads around the bodice and is belted with a swath of bright orange wool. The chiffon scarf, floating free in the breeze, is edged in the same bright-colored wool.

Seersucker, once the lowliest of cottons, has acquired real chic. It has come out of the ranks of utility clothes and has moved up into the foremost ranks of fashion.

Here we see a star-spangled seersucker (right) turned sleek and beautifully simple in the hands of designer Pauline Trigere. This is a cotton that looks nearly tailored at first glance, but that is actually a marvel of fashion understatement.

Far from being confined to summer wear, cotton is a year-around fabric now, suitable for many occasions and climates.

Plumbing Modern In Seven Out Of 10 Homes In Michigan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Seven out of ten Michigan families have what you might call "modern plumbing."

This was one of a host of facts and figures revealed by a Census Bureau report on housing in the state.

The survey, conducted in 1950, showed that 70.4 per cent of the Michigan dwelling units had hot running water, with private toilet and bath in generally good repair.

As expected, the city dwellers had more such conveniences than the rural inhabitants. The urban rate was 83.5 per cent, the rural rate only 37.5 per cent.

The survey also disclosed that housing more than kept pace with a population increase during the war-torn 1940's. The number of dwelling units went up 30 per cent—from 1,519,738 to 1,971,842—in the decade while population increased 21 per cent.

There were 56 per cent more units occupied by owners in 1950 than in 1940 and the number of renters dropped seven per cent.

The trend was to rural living, but not to farms. The survey showed that one-third of all rural homes other than farmhouses were built during the 1940's but only 10 per cent of the farmhouses went up during the decade.

On specific areas the Census Bureau had these facts to report:

Grosse Pointe Woods won honors for the highest percentage of "modern plumbing" with 98.4. A neighboring Detroit suburb, Grosse Pointe Park had 98.1 and Birmingham an even 98. Detroit led the bigger cities with 90.4 per cent.

Grosse Pointe Park had the biggest houses—an average of 6.6 rooms per dwelling. East Lansing, with many multiple units for students, was low with 4.3.

Rents also were highest in the Detroit suburbs. Outstate, they ranged from a $54.30 median contract monthly rent in Ann Arbor down to $23.79 in Ironwood. Hamtramck was low in the Lower Peninsula with $30.06. The state-wide average was $40.

Air Force Tightens Up Safety Measures As Disasters Repeat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Short (R-Mo.) said a House probe into recent military plane crashes had prompted the Air Force to tighten safety measures in North-western United States and Alaska.

Short is to be chairman of the House Armed Forces Committee, which yesterday wound up a two-day inquiry into the deaths of 234 persons in military disasters during November and December.

Maj. Gen. Roger Ramey, director of operations, testified that the Air Force has proposed spending more men and equipment to Alaska to help out troubled planes over mountainous terrain.

Congressman Indicted For Oil Lease Deal With Government

WASHINGTON (AP)—A federal grand jury indicted Rep. John L. McMillan (D-SC) on a charge of violating a law which bars members of Congress from entering into contracts with the government.

McMillan has said he brought on a "more or less friendly action" to determine his right to oil lease rights in Utah which he bought in 1951 from the Interior Department. The department canceled the lease in 1952, contending McMillan, as a member of Congress, had no right to hold it.

The indictment was returned a few hours after McMillan, at his own request, appeared before the grand jury.

The law involved prohibits members of Congress from executing or holding an interest in a contract with the government. McMillan contends the oil lease is not covered. Violators of the law are punishable by a maximum fine of $3,000.

Flint Journal Boss Promoted

DETROIT (AP)—John A. McDonald, manager of the Flint Journal for the past five years, has been elected vice president and general manager of Booth Newspapers, Ralph H. Bastien, president of the company, has announced.

Other Booth papers besides the Journal are the Grand Rapids Press, Saginaw News, Kalamazoo Gazette, Muskegon Chronicle, Jackson Citizen Patriot, Bay City Times and Ann Arbor News.

Harold M. Utley, advertising manager of the Journal for the past six years, will succeed McDonald at Flint. The position carries full responsibility for business management of the paper.

McDonald joined Booth newspapers 30 years ago as a rural circulation solicitor of the Ann Arbor News. He was successive circulation manager, classified manager, and display advertising salesman. In 1924 he went to the Saginaw News as circulation manager. He later became manager of the Saginaw News and remained in that position until coming to Flint as manager on Aug. 1, 1947.

McDonald was born in Valley City, N. D., and was a student at Michigan State College. He left in his senior year for Army service in the first World War. Recalled to active duty in World War II as a reserve officer, he served in various posts along the eastern seaboard. He was discharged in 1946 with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

He and Mrs. McDonald have two daughters, Patricia, and Mrs. Philip Reiman of Saginaw.

Marilyn Monroe Bug Bites Greer Garson

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The Marilyn Monroe bug has even bitten Greer Garson. That most ladylike of stars will do a striptease in her next movie.

The script of "Interrupted Melody," the screen story of Australian opera star Marjorie Lawrence, calls for a "Salome" bit.

That means, says MGM, that Greer will toss off as many of the seven veils as the law—and the Breen office—will allow.

"Why not?" asks a front office spokesman. "Miss Garson has a body like a starlet."

In Flowing Robes

Her body is well-covered in the flowing robes of a Roman noblewoman in "Julius Caesar." She and Deborah Kerr are the only two women in the cast of the essentially all-male story.

"We are just there to dress up the story," she says. "Our parts were so small that we felt like the producer's girl friends while making it."

She's also got another picture "Scandal at Scourie," in which she is teamed once more with Walter Pidgeon.

Pidgeon calls himself "the daytime Buddy Fogelson."

Fogelson is the Texas millionaire who is married to Greer. Fogelson doesn't want her to quit the movies.

"Buddy says I can make all the movies I want just so they aren't dull movies."

That may explain the new strip-teaser Greer.

Factory Injuries Hit Low Mark During 1952

WASHINGTON (AP)—The rate of injuries among the nation's manufacturing workers hit a new low for the first nine months of 1952, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said in a preliminary report.

There were 13.8 injuries for every million man-hours worked by manufacturing employees during the January-September period. This is the lowest rate of any year on record and 13 per cent below the like period of 1951.

Almost two-thirds of 137 industries studied showed improvement in their safety records over 1951.

More people get more news from newspapers than from all other sources combined.

In the beautiful memory of our dear son and brother, Walter Balenger, Jr., who died three years ago, January 16, 1950.

The month of January again is here. The saddest month of all the year.

God took him home, it was his will. But in our hearts he liveth still.

Sorely missed by his parents and brothers and sisters.

Hawks Lose 8-4, Play Host To Marquette Sunday Night

MARQUETTE — (Special)—Escanaba's Hawks, battling short-handed again and showing the effects of lack of consistent practice because of soft natural ice at home, were defeated 8-4 by the Marquette Sentinels on Palestra artificial ice here last night. Sixteen hundred fans saw the fast Northern Michigan Hockey League encounter.

The loss left the Hawks still tied with the Calumet Radars for third with four points each on three wins. Portage Lake is at the top, and last night's triumph strengthened Marquette's hold on second place.

The Marquette Sentinels will play the Hawks at Escanaba's fairgrounds rink at 8:15 this Sunday night in the playoff of the Escanaba home game postponed from December 17 because of lack of ice. Rink officials said the current cold blast would put Escanaba's ice in good shape for the Sunday game.

Marquette had too much teamwork and manpower for the Hawks as the Sentinels grabbed a 3-1 lead in the first and it to 5-1 in the second. Putting the pressure on in the third period, the visitors held the home sextet even at 3-all for their best showing.

An oddity of the game is the fact that each goalie turned back exactly 86 and two-thirds per cent of the shots peppered at him. In Goalie Ben Artwich's case, however, it was 52 saves on 60 shots, while young Jim DeMarinis, of Marquette, was called upon to make 26 stops of 30 shots, exactly half the work of the busy Hawk goalie.

Buddy Urovo, who raised Escanaba's hopes with the first goal at the 50-second mark, scored two for the night, as did Center Len Webster, who lighted the bulb to close the gap some at 15:15 and 19:55 of the finale. He also assisted Provo's opening tally. Coach Mark Olson passed to Webster for his two counters.

Marquette used three lines against Escanaba's two and five defensemen against Escanaba's three, with Coach Mark Olson taking a turn at defense to help out, and the manpower advantage became more evident as the game progressed.

The first 15 minutes of action was fast and clean. Marquette didn't get its two-goal edge until 18:28 of the opener when Johnny Vasseau scored neatly on assists by Julian VanOverloop and Roy Olson. From then on, the Sentinels were in the driver's seat.

Making effective use of quick, short passes, some of them slap-passes, the Sentinels continually worked the puck in close to keep Goalie Artwich dancing. Marquette's first line of VanOverloop, Olson and Vasseau was a thorn in Escanaba's side all night, and the youngsters coming up on second and third lines were almost as adept at the short, quick passing game.

The game was fairly clean. Ten penalties, all minor, were called by officials Fred Brunelle and Mel Bertrand.

The Escanaba squad will practice at the fairgrounds rink to-night in preparation for the Marquette invasion Sunday night. Coach Olson said he expected to have two or three additional men in uniform Sunday. Ed Brough-ton, burly defenseman, was missing last night, but he will be available for Sunday's game.

District Tournament Previews Tonight At Gladstone, Escanaba

A pretty fair preview of the Class B district tournament coming in March will be held in this area to-night.

Chisox Chances May Hinge On Pair Of Wilson Rookies

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Whether the Chicago White Sox can improve their third place finish of 1952 may depend upon a couple of rookies named Wilson—Bill and Bob.

Bill is a 24-year-old outfielder who recently received his Army discharge. Bob is a 23-year-old catcher who toiled at Seattle last year. They are among 14 freshmen including such promising youngsters as pitchers Mike Fornieles and Bob Keegan, infielder Bob Boyd and outfielder Don Nicholas.

Manager Paul Richards says "I think the Yankees can be beaten this year but to do so we must come up with more power. We had too many single hitters last year. Our attack, in most instances, consisted of a bunt, a steal and a prayer."

Fill Weak Spots

"If the two Wilsons could come through for us, it would help us tremendously because they happen to be in the two departments where we were weakest. Furthermore, both are reputed to pack power."

Bill, the flycatcher, is a tall, rangy lad who led the Southern Association in 1950 in doubles, homers, total bases and runs batted in. Bob, the catcher, is the former football star from the University of Wisconsin. He batted .297 in the coast league, drove in 75 runs and has the aggressiveness that Sherm Lollar, the No. 1 receiver, lacks.

Fornieles, the Cuban hurler acquired from Washington, won two and lost two for the Senators, but one of his triumphs was a one-hit shutout against Philadelphia.

Top Coast Hitter

Of the others, Boyd has the best record. The speedy Negro first baseman led the Pacific Coast League with a .320 batting average. Bob Landenberger, a .315 hitter at Colorado Springs with 26 homers and 133 runs batted in; Dixie Up- right, a .318 hitter at Memphis with 18 homers, and Earl Roy, a .307 hitter at Tulsa with 15 homers and 101 RBIs, also are first basemen. They haven't much chance to stick with Eddie Robinson around Sam- my Esposito, just out of Indiana.

University, hardly figures to unseat Chico Carrasquel at short- stop.

Nicholas is a real speedster, who cracked a Southern Association stolen base record when he swiped 83 at Memphis. The 22-year-old outfielder, however, hit only .280 and lacks power. Eddie McGhee, returning for another chance hit .289 at Memphis, driving in 86 runs.

The Sox may have come up with a find in Keegan, a 31-year-old right-hander, who led the International League with 20 victories. He posted an impressive 2.67 ERA at Syracuse. Other new 90x hurlers, include southpaw Hal Hudson, 11-8 at Toronto; right-hander Jim Su- checki, 14-7 at Memphis; and right- hander Ross Grimsley, 4-7 at Mem- phis.

Rocky Will Get Ultimatum Soon

NEW YORK (AP)—A joint "re- view board" of the New York State Athletic Commission Box- ing Association today is expected to insist Rocky Marciano defend his heavyweight title within the six-months span of his Sept. 23 win over Jersey Joe Walcott.

A return bout contract between Marciano and Walcott, signed be- fore their title fight in Philadel- phia, will be presented by John (Ox) La Crosse of the Pennsylv- ania Boxing Commission.

Walcott's manager, Felix Boc- chicchio, and his legal advisors will be present with Jim Norris, International Boxing Club presi- dent, and Al Weill, Marciano's manager.

Norris wants to run a Marciano- Walcott rematch at Chicago Sta- dium, Friday, April 10. Weill says he would prefer to go in June but has agreed verbally to the April date, has balked at go- ing to Chicago "because it won't do enough money." He wants to take it to Atlantic City, N. J., or Miami, Fla. Failing that, he said last night he would prefer to wait until June rather than agree to a Chicago match.

If the commissions insists on the six-month defense and Bocchicchio still balks, it may come to a show- down on the legality of the re- turn bout contract.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

Halftime Leads Fails, Redskins Lose 56-51

HERMANSVILLE, Mich.—Coach George Maule's Redskins failed to hold a first half margin and dropped a 56-51 verdict to the Alpha High School quint here last night.

The Redskins were on the short end of a 19-17 first period but rallied with 15 points in the second to lead at halftime by a 32-29 margin.

Hermansville's point production fell off sharply in the third period and Coach Gary Gollakner's Alpha cagers moved out in front 46-40. Hermansville was unable to close the gap in the final frame. Francis Breaks O'Brien's Mark

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—Bevo Francis today held the national collegiate basketball record for the most points in a single season, 1,072. He has 18 more games to go.

The Rio Grande College fresh- man tallied 51 points Thursday night against Bliss College, two less than the whole Bliss team as it went down to a 102-53 defeat.

The 6 foot, 9 inch Francis broke the record of 1,051 set by the Uni- versity of Seattle's Johnny O'Brien in the 1951-52 season.

Francis has averaged more than 50 points in the 21 games this year. His 116 points against Ashland Col- lege of Kentucky set a national record for a single game.

Three other Big Ten engage- ments Saturday send Michigan State (3-2) to Michigan (2-6), Wis- consin (3-4) to Northwestern (2-3) and Iowa (2-4) to Minnesota (3-3).

The Chicago Stadium double- header program will open with La Salle, ranked No. 3 nationally, fac- ing DePaul, and Bradley meeting Loyola of Chicago. Other games include Notre Dame, with 10 vic- tories in 11 starts, at St. Louis, and Valparaiso at Marquette.

Improved Chicago Cubs To Stand Pat This Year

CHICAGO (AP)—There probably will be fewer new faces on the Chicago Cubs this season than any other major league baseball team. They are standing—pat on the squad that manager Phil Cavarretta inherited from last to fifth place in 1952.

"We haven't a single deal on the fire," personnel director Wid Mathews told a press luncheon Thursday.

Cavarretta thinks the Cubs could gain the first division "if we could get another power hitter like Hank Sauer in the outfield." He may take a shot at right field him- self.

Ward Gets Chance

"I think I can still run, throw and hit," he said.
Preston Ward, first baseman re- turning from service, will get a crack at right field, teaming with Sauer, voted the National League's most valuable player for 1952, in left and Hal Jeffcoat or Frankie Baumholtz, in center.

Cavarretta said De Fondy has first call on first base and other infield spots will be filled by Roy Smalley at short, Ransom Jack- son or Bill Serena at third and Eddie Miksis at second.

Catcher Back

The Cubs have brought back one of their catching mainstays of a few years ago, Clyde McCullough, from the Pittsburgh Pirates.

"Clyde can throw out those base stealers and we'll use him against running teams like Brooklyn," Phil said. "It will take a lot of pressure off Toby Atwell."

Cavarretta named Bob Rush, and Paul Minner as solid starting pitchers. He expects improvement from Johnny Klippstein, Turk Lown, Sheldon Jones and Bob Schultz.

Emeralds Seek Fifth Straight Win Tonight

MANISTIQUE — Coach Rudy Brandstrom's Emeralds will be seeking their fifth straight win when they tangle with the Cana- dian Sault quintet in the high school gymnasium here tonight.

The varsity game is scheduled for 8, and will be preceded by a preliminary between sophomore and junior teams, starting at 7. Officials for the main event will be Art Wassberg and Paul Meli.

Nation's Top Keglars Will Roll In Michigan

BAY CITY (P)—Twenty-four of the nation's leading bowlers will compete here Saturday and Sun- day in the Michigan match game doubles challenge round.

Winners of the 15-game chal- lenge eliminations will meet de- fending state champions Pete Carter and Lee Jouglaard in a 42- game elimination block later in the month.

Manistique reserves will play at Engadine tonight.

Biggie Munn Favors Waiting On New Rule

EAST LANSING (AP)— Mich- igan State's Coach Biggie Munn favors a one-year wait before en- forcement of the new NCAA rules that abolish the platoon system in college football.

Munn, whose Spartans were 1952 national champions, told newsmen:

"I'm looking at the problem from all sides. I'm thinking about the most important figures in the whole thing—the players them- selves. And I don't just mean the players at Michigan State."

Knows Both Ways

Syracuse Leads Pro Cage Loop

(By The Associated Press)

Syracuse still was perched atop the eastern division of the National Basketball Association today, but only one game ahead of the third place Boston Celtics.

The Nats easily defeated the Rochester Royals, 109-85, Thursday night while Boston was dropping one to the Fort Wayne Pistons, 9-85. In another league game, In- dianapolis whipped Milwaukee, 75-68.

A scheduled doubleheader at Philadelphia between New York and Baltimore, and Minneapolis and the Warriors was postponed because of a transportation strike. The Knickerbockers, by being idle, moved into second place in the eastern division.

Rochester made it easy for Syra- cuse by having five of its players banished on personal fouls. The de- feat dropped the Royals four games behind pace-setting Minne- apolis in the western division.

Fort Wayne rallied twice from a 19 point deficit to overtake Bos- ton with less than two minutes left. Dike Eddleman of Fort Wayne scored 28 points and Bill Sharman was high for the Celtics with 26.

At Sheboygan, Indianapolis also came from behind in the fourth quarter to down Milwaukee. The Hawks were leading, 58-55, at the end of three quarters. The Olymp- ians' Leo Barnhorst and Jack Nichols of Milwaukee each scored 22 points.

Big Problem For Coaches In New One Platoon Rule

By ED CORRIGAN
NEW YORK (AP)—The nation's college football coaches—both big and little—still were high and dry today trying to figure out how they will adapt their teams to the new "one platoon" system that will be in effect next fall.

With the outlasting two days ago of the two-platoon system which has been in effect 12 years, by the National Collegiate Athletic Association's Rules Committee, the coaches agreed they would have to revise their strategy considerably.

But just what they intended to do, even they didn't seem to know. The new rule took them almost completely by surprise, because they took it for granted the two-platoon system was here to stay. When they voted in favor of it by a 4-1 margin not long ago, there seemed little doubt that it was set for a long tenure.

Council Urged
But the committee apparently took more seriously the resolution by the NCAA's 17-man council "strongly urging" the Rules Committee to do away with the two-platoon system. The resolution was made at the NCAA convention last week and came as a sort of end of the trail move.

It was made Saturday and passed by a margin of 45-23. There were 255 voting delegates at the convention and many had left. The council is composed of athletic directors and faculty representatives, not coaches.

Probably not many of the coaches even were aware of the resolution, but it seems certain that if both the coaches and council had voted for the two-platoons, the committee would have left the rule alone.

Lack of Warm-Up
Another major point made at the convention was that the two-platoon system might not have presented as many injuries as its proponents thought.

The Eastwood Committee of Injuries and Fatalities made this report to the convention:

"Another factor contributing to the football injuries was inadequate provision for warm-up of the players. A technique must be developed to keep players warmed up between the offensive and defensive substitutions which have been greatly increased by the modern platoon system. Contrary to what had long been thought, inadequate warm-up is a more important cause of injuries than is fatigue."

There was no general line of opinion among groups of players and coaches. Some of the big school mentors were bitter at the thought of the new rule while others said it would be a boon to the game.

Perhaps the most surprising aspect of the entire picture was that the smaller colleges were split about 50-50 on the benefits, or lack of same, on the outlasting of the two-platoon system. It was thought that the smaller schools were put at a definite disadvantage by having to compete with large squads of top teams. But only half the little fellows saw it that way.

Fans Happy
Players, too, were about evenly divided, but the fans, generally, seemed happy over the change. To the man who pays his way into a game, the platoons system meant confusion. He will be better able to follow the players and the game now.

One thing seems certain — it won't be the same game of football next season. Many of the teams that employ the T formation, which stresses individual talents and surprise maneuvers, probably will go back to the time-tested single-wing. The game will be slower what with players being forced to keep something in reserve for their defensive efforts.

Probably the happiest group of all over the change is the athletic directors and officials charged with watching the college bank accounts.

Faced with rising costs and declining receipts, athletic directors were caught in the squeeze of maintaining large squads. Now they'll get some relief.

Heavyweight Champion Is Honored By Martin

By TED MEIER
NEW YORK (AP)—Joseph W. Martin Jr., speaker of the House of Representatives, praised boxing in general and Heavyweight Champion Rocky Marciano in particular at the Boxing Writers Association annual dinner last night.

In presenting Rocky the Edward J. Neil Memorial Plaque as the man who did the most for boxing in 1952 Martin termed the unbeaten heavyweight champion "a credit to America and symbolic of the American spirit."

The Neil award honors the memory of the Associated Press boxing writer and war correspondent who was killed in 1938 during the war in Spain.

High Praise
"I think if Ed Neil were here tonight," Martin declared, "he would join us in saying that no man has better earned the Neil trophy than my neighbor from Brockton, Mass. ... Rocky has earned the award by his conduct both in and out of the ring."

"In these days of super states, dictatorships and regimented societies, it is a wonderful thing that in America every kid, whether he is a Negro sharecropper, or the boy from the mansion on the hill, has the same opportunity to be champion."

Jersey Joe Walcott, the former champ who lost his title to Rocky last September in Philadelphia, joined in giving Rocky a thunderous ovation at the presentation.

"Boxing has been wonderful to me," Rocky said. "I do not ever intend to let it down in any way."

Commenting on the sport in general Martin asserted that "boxing has come of age. Television now brings it into the living rooms of 20 million American homes. ... Tank fighters have all but disappeared from the scene."

Sport Cleaned Up
"The chisellers have been pretty much run out of business. The referees and judges are men of the highest integrity and the whole business is run by commissioners of the highest motives."

George Barton, president of the National Boxing Association and veteran sports writer for the Minneapolis Tribune, was honored for "long and meritorious service" to the sport. He received the James J. Walker Memorial Award from James A. Farley, former postmaster general and former chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission.

Vince Martinez of Paterson, N. J., received a plaque as the "Rookie of the year." Pete Mello, co-coach of the U. S. Olympic champion boxing team and Jim Jennings, veteran boxing writer for the New York Daily Mirror, also received awards.

In addition to Walcott, former Heavyweight champion in Braddock and Primo Carnera took bows.
